

Natalie Gauci - Commercial "Why Bag" close

Let's get started . . .

So ladies, I know at the beginning of the party I shared a little bit about how I was introduced to these incredible products, and how I started to "dabble" in this business. Now, I want to take a moment, to share with you how that night at my bathroom counter in Irvine, CA was the beginning of a journey with Arbonne of fun, growth, building my belief in myself, and getting to know others hopes and dreams. You see I had no idea that night that 7 years later, I would be a single mom living in TX with no family, looking into the most precious sleeping baby boys eyes every night as I put him to sleep petrified – How am I going to support him? Can I really do this business? Can I make this work?

I realize this business is not a fit for everyone, and it may not be right for you, but you may know someone, who is looking for some "extra no explanation mall money", or to save for college education, a vacation, or you might know someone who's husband just got laid off, or who's sister is going through a divorce. Sometimes, if you're at all like me – we live thinking "oh that will never happen to me" Thank goodness Arbonne was a Plan B for me when I needed it.

Here is this precious little boy Jake who is now 10 – Here is my husband Gary, and our little baby girl Gabriella. My life looks a whole lot different today, Now when I tuck my kids in at night, I no longer go to bed with tears in my eyes, afraid of how I am going to support them. I go to bed thanking God for what a blessing this has been in our lives. Both my husband and I are an active part of our kids every day lives. We work from home, so we are home with our kids to watch them grow. We are able to travel, (show pictures of trips) – my husband and I even got married on an Arbonne trip in the Bahamas. I love surrounding myself with incredible people, because of Arbonne we have some wonderful friends, and I feel like this has allowed my kids to understand that if they want something bad enough they can do and be anything!

Thank you for letting me share a little bit more with you about myself. I really do appreciate you listening. When, I opened that little sample, and smelled that product I surely fell in love with it – I knew this was an incredible product, but I had no idea the impact this business would have on my life and the lives of so many others.
